

Are you ready to improve the quality and safety of patient care in your healthcare setting?

Whether you're wanting to learn basic skills to be an effective leader in patient safety and quality implementation or pursue a career in academic quality improvement (QI), the Center for Scholarship in Patient Care Quality & Safety has options for you. Build new skills or deepen those you have with our two most popular programs.

	Certificate Program in Patient Safety and Quality	Quality Improvement (QI) Scholars Program
Overview	A survey course in the fundamentals of quality, safety, equity, and value.	An intensive, advanced training program for clinician researchers focused on QI
Who should participate?	Teams (3-8) and individuals from any health-related organization with beginner to intermediate QI knowledge and skill.	Applicants must have a University of Washington faculty appointment or Seattle Children's hospital affiliation by the start of the program.
Program basics	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 8-month program</li> <li>• 6 day-long sessions (virtual options available)</li> <li>• Mentoring on a QI project</li> <li>• Continuing Education credits available.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 12-month program</li> <li>• Monthly half-day seminars (in-person)</li> <li>• Monthly meetings with mentorship team, statistician, data analyst</li> <li>• QI research project with in-depth mentorship and data analytics and statistical support</li> <li>• Learn from peer community and national experts</li> <li>• CME credits available</li> </ul>
Cohort Size	~100 total participants	4 to 5 UW Medicine Scholars
Cost	$2,577 for UW-affiliated and Seattle Children's Hospital participants; $3,069 for participants outside of UW and Seattle Children's Hospital	$8,000 tuition and 5% protected effort for UW Medicine faculty, jointly funded by Division/Department and research site (UW Department of Pediatrics/Seattle Children's Faculty have separate application and tuition structure)
QR code to learn more about registering or applying		